Aldergrove could host tiny house micro-village

MAD RIVER UNION
ARCATA – The Arcata City Council has given the go-ahead for a loan application to fund a pilot tiny house village in Valley West’s Aldergrove area.

The “micro-village” transitional housing community, proposed by Cooperation Humboldt, would include 15 tiny houses, and would be funded by the State of California Encampment Resolution Funding Program.

The loan would help fund the village through June 2024, and is seen as a possible way of drawing campers out of nearby Carlson Park. The funds could help rehouse campers and restore the landscape along the Mad River, whose environment has been heavily impacted by campsites.

Aldergrove may not be the final site; public outreach is planned to identify alternatives before a

Supervisors asked for cannabis guidance

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – Saying it’s “struggling” with controversial aspects of cannabis permitting, the county’s Planning Commission is asking the Board of Supervisors for policy guidance.

Potential changes in permitting are outlined in a letter to the board and were discussed during the December 16 commission meeting.

As stated in the letter, there’s “increasing public concern” about cultivation permit approvals.

The most vexing are permit applications still pending under the county’s first cannabis ordinance, which has fewer conditions than the county’s second ordinance.

The first ordinance doesn’t set road standards and allows applicants to complete a “self-evaluation form” attesting to the condition of access roads.

Wood peers into 2022, predicts changes

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION
HUMBOLDT – 2022 will usher advances in broadband access, wildfire prevention and opportunity for opening recycling redemption centers.

North Coast Assemblymember Jim Wood updated the Board of Supervisors during a December 14 annual report.

His report included an update on the Crescent City-based Hambro Recycling’s effort to open a recycling center in Arcata at 420 G St.

An original plan was to open the center on Dec. 1 but that was bumped to early spring due to the timeline for state Coastal Commission approval.

After mentioning the early spring opening target, Wood said a “Coastal Commission issue” has arisen and “it might be awhile so it’s two steps forward, one step back and one step sideways sometimes.”

Also on the recycling front, Wood’s bill to amend the California Beverage Container Recycling and Litter Reduction Act is “specific to Humboldt County,” he said, because there are no certified recycling redemption centers here.

The original law “never provided flexibilities to communities struggling to make CRV redemption centers viable,” said Wood, so his amendment allows redemption centers to work on “an alternative schedule” less than the 30 hours a week now required and includes other tweaks like allowing centers to operate by appointment.

This year saw approval of Wood’s bill to require Caltrans to include conduits capable of installing fiber optic lines in its projects. Wood and Senator Mike McGuire are on the state’s broadband Middle Mile Advisory Committee.

“You can be assured that we are going to do everything we can to advocate for our communities,” said Wood.

New petition pushes for development of affordable, climate-friendly infill housing

REDWOOD COALITION FOR CLIMATE AND ENERGY RESPONSIBILITY
HUMBOLDT — Humboldt County is in a housing crisis.

The county's October ranking as Number 1 real estate market in California may be good for realtors and sellers, but the high prices and lack of new housing development means that there is simply not enough housing to meet the need at any income level.

We are also in a climate crisis. In Humboldt County, 54 percent of greenhouse gas emissions come from transportation. Building more housing close to jobs, services and retail will allow us to lower emissions by driving less and using mass transit and active transportation more.

This approach can not only improve our quality of life but also work towards protecting our communities from sea level rise and wildfire.

With this in mind, the Redwood Coalition for Climate and Energy Responsibility (RCCER) has released a petition calling on the county and leaders of the seven incorporated cities to prioritize developing housing in existing, transit oriented neighborhoods rather than sprawling out into forests and wetlands.

As Colin Fiske, founding member of RCCER said, "Infill development, such as the proposed parking lot housing developments in Eureka, can result in more people-friendly, climate-conscious and affordable housing, addressing both of these crises at once."

The petition, which can be found at rccer.com/take-action.html, calls on leaders to adopt new policies which encourage dense, walkable housing development, and to get rid of policies which get in the way of creating safer, more attractive, more people-friendly, more climate-conscious and more affordable communities for everybody who lives in Humboldt County.

Hayley Connors-Keith, a climate activist and RCCER member, said, "Although housing is not often seen as an environmental issue, we recognize that decisions made by Cities can have a profound effect on the climate. We need to build housing, but we need to build it right. If we do so, we can build a resilient future for Humboldt County that we can all be proud of."

VIA CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA — The Community Development Department released the draft of the Gateway Area Plan on Wednesday, Dec. 1, which provides details of how Arcata's Gateway Area could be redeveloped to create more housing opportunities for the community.

The Gateway Area Plan draft will be circulated to the public for approximately one year before it can be adopted by the City Council, and members of the public may review the Gateway Area Plan draft and an informational video about the draft at cityofarcata.org.

City staff held the first series of public meetings to discuss the contents of the draft in December. Video recordings of these meetings, including the virtual Town Hall, Planning Commission and City Council meetings are available to view on the City of Arcata's YouTube page.

The Community Development Department is in the process of scheduling more public engagement opportunities in January and February 2022, which will include additional virtual Town Halls and study sessions, City Committee meetings, and tabling at the Arcata Plaza Farmers' Market.

City staff will also host an in person Open House on Friday, Jan. 21 and Saturday, Jan. 22 from 11:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Arcata Community Center, located at 321 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Parkway. COVID-19 health and safety protocols will be in place.

Upcoming public meetings will focus on transportation circulation, building height and scale, and other topics of interest. These conversations will also provide an opportunity for Arcata's residents to share feedback about community benefits and amenities they would like to see in the Gateway Plan Area. The dates for all upcoming meetings are anticipated to be finalized early in the New Year, and more information will be provided as it becomes available.

Community members are encouraged to sign up for the Community Development Department's Long Range Planning & Community Visioning email notification list to stay updated on public comment and engagement opportunities. Sign up by clicking the eNotifications Sign Up button on the homepage of the City's website.

The Community Development Department has created a Community Visioning Survey for residents and non-residents to share their thoughts on Arcata's development. Based on community feedback, the deadline to participate has been extended to Friday, April 1, 2022. Feedback received from the survey will help shape Arcata's future development priorities. The survey is available in Spanish and English at cityofarcata.org.

Based on public input received in the last month, the Community Development Department has identified common concerns related to the draft plan and has created a fact sheet for the public to review. The fact sheet will be updated regularly, and is available at cityofarcata.org.

Arcata residents are encouraged to share their input and reach out to the Community Development Department with questions regarding the draft of Arcata Gateway Area Plan. City staff can be reached by email at comdev@cityofarcata.org or by calling (707) 822-5955. In addition, City staff is available to meet with individuals or groups of community members interested in discussing the plan. Please contact (707) 822-5955 to schedule a virtual or in-person meeting.

COVID-19 health and safety measures must be followed at all in person meetings, including physical distancing and wearing facial coverings regardless of vaccination status. For more information on the Gateway Area Plan draft or to learn more about Community Development projects and plans, visit cityofarcata.org or call (707) 822-5955.

McK Girl Scout Troop 70181 picking up Christmas Trees to raise funds for England trip

McKINLEYVILLE GIRL SCOUT TROOP 70181
McKINLEYVILLE – McKinleyville Girl Scout Troop 70181 will be picking up and recycling Christmas trees in the McKinleyville/Arcata area for donations. Trees must be free of all tinsel and decorations.

Pick-ups will begin on Saturday, Jan. 1. Additional pick-up dates are Sunday, Jan. 2; Saturday, Jan. 8, and Sunday, Jan. 9. If you are interested in having your tree picked up to be properly composted, please call Cheryl at (707) 502-8929 after Dec. 27 to select a pick-up date. You can also go online to request a date at forms.gle/tBEHuTMCWYCxMkNQ6.

The Troop is raising money for their trip to England to visit the World Girl Guide and Girl Scout Center at Pax Lodge among other famous sights.

The pandemic interrupted plans for their 2020 trip so the plan is to go in June 2022. It also interrupted last year's tree recycling effort which has been ongoing for 10 years.

Despite the wet and cold work, the Girl Scouts feel it is important for the environment to provide this service. Two previous groups of older girls from Troop 70181 each successfully made three-week long trips to England and Wales in the summer of 2013 and the summer of 2016 thanks to their similar efforts and the support of our Humboldt community. Suggested donation is $7.

final selection is made.

Sabrina Miller of Cooperation Humboldt said those currently encamped in Carlson Park are eager to pitch in and make the new micro-shelter community work.

In a November presentation by Cooperation Humboldt, the project was described as including 15 units of detached bedrooms with 24-7 access and lockable storage; on-site case management and links to health services; a village structure to reinforce existing community networks and help build relationships; community engagement expectations for residents: work on personal goals, community governance, and/or village improvement/maintenance; active participation in self-governance; mediation training and community health worker training; and more.

The grant app supports the council's priority projects for Fiscal Year 2020/2021 to identify comprehensive housing solutions.

Wood | Urges vaccination to end pandemic

A "major" broadband service improvement project will be carried out on the North Coast over the next several years, Wood said, and there's $7 billion in the state budget to open access to middle mile networks which "should help with the last mile deployment."

He noted the contributions of Connie Stewart of the California Center for Rural Policy, which is headquartered at Humboldt State University. He said the center is a "huge resource to have in Humboldt County."

On wildfire prevention and preparedness, a dedicated department for it within the Office of the State Fire Marshal will be created with Wood's AB 9.

"This is a significant shift on how we carry out this effort," he said. "The challenge we've seen is that once the fire season starts, a lot of the folks who are working on fire prevention projects get pulled into the firefighting service."

Creating the department will "prevent these people from getting pulled away" and allow consistent, year-round service, Wood continued.

In 2022, Wood aims to create an Office of Health Care Affordability to track health care costs and promote reducing them.

To assist the state's cannabis industry, Wood seeks to expand opportunities for direct retail sales. That will include a renewed effort to allow sales at farmer's markets.

Wood began his update by saying that pandemic challenges have had wide-ranging impacts. "The only way we're going to be able to find our way out of this pandemic and prevent future virus mutations is by getting as many people vaccinated as possible," he said.

That statement spurred 14 responses during a public comment session from people who have serious doubts about the safety and effectiveness of vaccines. The comment period had to be cut off to accommodate a time-set agenda item.

Cannabis | Concern over permit conditions

Commission Chair Alan Bongio wants that changed. He believes substandard roads could fail and are a liability issue. He supported the letter's request for guidance on stricter road evaluation.

"In the end, the public's gonna be paying for this when a fuel truck spills or there's a bad accident and somebody's killed – there's gonna be lawsuits, there's gonna be environmental issues," Bongio said. "I'm trying to protect the people of Humboldt here."

He acknowledged that road upgrades will be expensive for cannabis farmers but "if it was any other industry, there's wouldn't even be this question – there is no self-evaluation form for anything other than cannabis."

Use of wells for irrigation has also been "extremely controversial," according to the letter.

The commission recently began conditioning some permits on stopping well use during dry season months and using stored water instead.

The letter notes that issue has spurred a de facto moratorium on approving permits with wells until "a more comprehensive policy is in place."

But Commissioner Thomas Mulder, who is a Southern Humboldt cannabis farm operator, said the county's permitting rules do account for drought and a Drought Task Force can recommend scaling back cannabis cultivation if conditions call for it.

"Trying to over-condition things is not our place, I believe there's proper language to deal with this problem in the ordinance," Mulder said.

The letter asks if the commission should require "substantial water storage" in combination with well use, and advises development of regulations on wells.

Use of generators is another issue complicating permit approvals and the county's first ordinance doesn't place conditions on it.

The Commission has been calling for transitions to renewable energy by the end of 2025 and the letter asks if that should become formal policy.

During a public comment period, Natalynne DeLapp of the Humboldt Growers Alliance said the letter is appreciated because it promotes consistency. But there is concern about some of the suggested changes.

On the roads issue, DeLapp noted that existing farms – including those that have been operating for many years – are among those that applied for permits under the first ordinance and "they've shown that they have roads capable of servicing a site."

She also questioned what the commission expects to happen if a farm's access roads don't meet standards.

"Are they supposed to rebuild an entire road network, or is the Planning Commission gonna tell the 1.0 operator that they're no longer allowed to cultivate their site or that now they have to (relocate)?" she asked.

Several cannabis farmers urged the commission not to "move the goalposts" on use of wells, as groundwater use was at one time encouraged as an alternative to stream diversions.

DeLapp said that if water storage becomes a formal requirement for wells, permit applicants should be given enough time to install it.

After making some minor wording changes to a draft version of the letter, commissioners directed planning staff to send it to the Board of Supervisors.

Commissioner Melanie McCavour had asked if her request for maps showing where cannabis farms are located to determine cumulative impacts should be mentioned in the letter.

Planning Director John Ford said there's no need to have supervisors sign off on the maps. They're in the process of being drafted by county planning staff and will be presented to the commission at its January 6 meeting.

Ford added that farm site locations won't be specifically detailed to avoid having the maps used as "treasure maps" by thieves and robbers.

Fatal fentanyl overdose leads to arrest of Hoopa man on manslaughter charge

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

HUMBOLDT – On Nov. 8, 2021, the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office (HCSO) responded to a residence in Weitchpec for the report of a 46-year-old female found deceased inside her home.

Evidence located on scene led deputies to believe the cause of death was a fentanyl overdose.

In late November the toxicology results returned and confirmed the cause of death as a fentanyl overdose.

The Humboldt County Drug Task Force was contacted and initiated an investigation into the source of fentanyl.

The HCDTF wrote three search warrants as part of this investigation and obtained evidence identifying James Charles Williamson II, 30, Hoopa as the suspect who sold fentanyl to the decedent prior to the overdose. Williamson already had four active arrest warrants in Humboldt County.

James Charles Williamson

On Monday, Dec. 20, 2021, HCDTF with the assistance of the HCSO served a search warrant at Williamson's residence in the 100 block of Boozer Lane in Hoopa.

Agents located Williamson hiding inside a closet in the back of the house. He was arrested without incident.

Agents located additional evidence connecting Williamson to the fentanyl overdose investigation.

Williamson was transported to the Humboldt County Jail where he was booked for his four warrants as well as the following charges:

- Manslaughter
- Possession of fentanyl for sale
- Transportation of fentanyl for sale

Anyone with information related to this investigation or other narcotics related crimes are encouraged to call the Humboldt County Drug Task Force at (707) 267-9976.

Box cutter attack on EPD officer brings arrest

EUREKA POLICE DEPT.

EUREKA – On December 22, 2021, at about 12:30 p.m., officers with the Eureka Police Department responded to Third and A streets for the report of three males in a fight, with one male reportedly armed with a knife.

As officers approached, the male with the knife began walking away towards a grocery store parking lot at Third and B streets. The male, 29-year-old Gabriel Perez, repeatedly failed to follow the officer's commands to stop. While officers were attempting to make contact, Perez turned and lunged at an officer, stabbing him in the chest with a folding box cutter.

Luckily the officer's protective vest stopped the blade from causing any injuries. After a brief struggle, Perez was taken into custody without further incident.

While in transport to jail, Perez made multiple violent verbal threats. He was ultimately booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility for attempted murder, violently resisting arrest, brandishing, and probation violation.

HUMBOLDT BAY Photos by Aldaron Laird on display at the Marsh Interpretive Center. VIA FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH

Exhibit looks at atmospheric displays of the bay

FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH

ARCATA MARSH – During January and February, photographs by environmental planning consultant Aldaron Laird will be on display at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center.

Shows featuring local art and photography are sponsored by Friends of the Arcata Marsh. The Interpretive Center, located at 569 South G St. in Arcata, is open to the public Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Masks currently are required inside the building. For more information, call (707) 826-2359.

The following is a statement from

Laird:

I have been mapping and studying Humboldt Bay (Wigi) for the last 20 years. I've been active since 2010 in promoting a regional approach to sea level rise planning on the bay.

I have prepared sea level rise vulnerability assessments, co-founded the Humboldt State Sea Level Rise Initiative, and recently launched HSU's Humboldt Sea Level Rise Public Forum.

I've spent a lot of time kayaking, hiking, and photographing on Humboldt Bay. I have circum-navigated all 102 miles of the bay's shoreline. I am particularly attracted to the dynamic inter-tidal zone, the landscape of channels, mudflats, and salt marshes between the extreme King and Minus Tides.

The bay and its reflecting waters and ever changing atmospheric displays are a joy to observe and photograph. My photographs of Humboldt Bay have been featured at the Morris Graves Museum of Art.

KING TIDE Participants in the January 11, 2020 King Tide Tour sponsored by Friends of the Arcata Marsh. On Sunday, Jan. 2, Friends of the Arcata Marsh will offer a special King Tide Tour at the Arcata Marsh. Meet leaders Elliott Dabill and Barbara Reisman at 11 a.m. on South I Street, in the first parking lot in from Samoa Boulevard. Learn what makes the tides so much higher than normal; the increases expected as sea level rises; and what will happen to Humboldt Bay as the rest of the century brings monumental changes to our home. This tour will occur, rain or shine. Masks are required inside the Interpretive Center; have one handy to comply with current County COVID rules outdoors. For more information, call (707) 826-2359. Help document King Tides in the new year

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA – The King Tides will return on Saturday, Jan. 1 through Monday, January 3, and there are several ways community members can learn more about them and document their activity.

Community members are invited to join Friends of the Arcata Marsh (FOAM) for a special King Tide Tour at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Jan. 2 at the Arcata Marsh & Wildlife Sanctuary.

The tour, lead by docents Elliott Dabill and Barbara Reisman, will take place rain or shine. Participants are encouraged to wear boots or waterproof shoes and to follow all COVID-19 safety precautions in place. There is no cost to attend, and those who wish to join the tour are asked to meet at the South I Street parking lot, located just off of Samoa Boulevard.

Please call (707) 826-2359 for more information.

In addition, the Coastal Commission is still seeking assistance with photo-documenting water levels during the King Tide events. King Tide events show projections of what "normal" tide levels could look like in the future as a result of sea level rise, and a visual record of King Tide events from year to year provides valuable data used when planning for sea level rise.

King tide observers are encouraged to share photos of the King Tides to the California Coastal Commission's King Tide story map. More information on King Tides and instructions on how to upload photos to the map can be found at coastal.ca.gov/king-tides. Images of the tides on Arcata Bay, local creeks and streams and locations throughout Humboldt County are welcome and encouraged.

Community members who choose to observe the King Tides are urged to follow safety precautions around the water, and are reminded to follow these tips to safely observe the King Tides:

- Pick a safe place away from large waves. There are plenty of safe places to observe the tides at the Arcata Marsh & Wildlife Sanctuary.
- Avoid jetties, rocks, logs and other slippery surfaces.
- Observe the tides from higher ground at the beach. Select an elevated viewpoint, like a cliff with an established safety barricade to watch the tides. Pay attention to all warnings to stay off the beach. Do not cross barricades or fences.
- Always consider your safety before heading out close to the waves. Community members with slower response times are advised not to venture close to the waves.

• If you choose to observe the tides at the edge of the surf, watch how far the waves are coming in and how volatile the ocean is before setting foot on the beach. When approaching the beach, get there using a route that is easy to retrace in case of an emergency.

• Always keep an eye on the ocean. If on the beach, keep a safe distance from the waves. If a piece of land is dry, there is no guarantee it will stay that way. Walk diagonally on the beach so waves coming in from behind can be seen, and be ready to act fast as waves can come in rapidly and those in their path must react quickly.

• Please be aware that shore birds may be seeking refuge in areas above the tide line, so do not flush them out in the process of observing the tides.

The National Weather Service has information more about sneaker waves, high surf and other dangers that can be found at weather.gov/safety/rip-current-waves.

OBITUARY

Kenneth J Hinman
Feb. 7, 1936 – Oct. 20, 2021

Ken was a Humboldt County native who taught elementary school for 32 years. He was a natural born and beloved teacher whose students fondly referred to him as “Mr. H.”

He found a way to weave his love of music into his curriculum and could often be found playing John Denver tunes on his guitar for his students. He especially enjoyed his colleague Lannie Nelsen and the collaboration they shared between their classrooms.

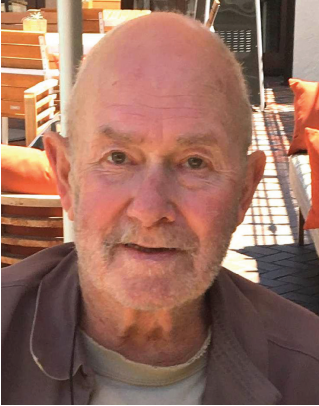

Prior to his teaching career he spent four years in the United States Air Force as a court stenographer. He was stationed in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

One of Ken's favorite hobbies was gardening and his is specialty was growing flowers and vegetables. After he retired from teaching, Ken helped to manage Pierson's Garden Shop for 20 years.

His depth of knowledge and love for gardening helped him to win many gardening awards from the City of Eureka throughout his years. Another favorite hobby was music. His love of music included both classical and rock genres.

Ken went to see music as much as he could and was able to see both Neil Diamond and Elton John live in concert.

Ken was fond of good food and was referred to as a “foodie.”.He enjoyed visiting the San Francisco Farmer's Market at the Ferry Building. His all-time favorite food was Italian, and he was often found covering everything with parmesan cheese.

Ken's favorite place to travel was the Caribbean and he loved to feel the wind on his cute bald head. His sense of adventure made him an exciting and very fun travel partner. He was a bit of a daredevil and was always up for a zip line adventure, a roller coaster ride, or a parasailing adventure.

Ken was a runner and loved to participate in organized runs. He participated in all the local events he could, including the annual Foggy Bottoms and Clam Beach runs. He also enjoyed several Bay to Breaker runs. Ken met his longtime partner Steve in July of 1993 while on a Clam Beach run.

Ken leaves behind the fondest of memories for his beloved dogs. Most recently Maddie, a rescue dog and cute little bundle of joy, stole Ken's heart. Codie, a “cotton-ball with an attitude” was another favorite who was very active and loved to play, and finally, Rhandi who was Ken's princess.

Ken is survived by his partner of 31 years, Steve Frizzell. He also leaves behind his daughter Tami, son Todd and wife Ireta; three grandchildren, Mitch, Brendon and Shalisa, and one great-grandchild, Oliver. Ken also leaves behind his sister Lucille Huddleson from Fortuna and his brother Norman Hinman of Yuba City. Ken remained good friends with his ex-wife Jean Hinman until her death in 2009.

Ken was a kind and gentle man with an incredible sense of humor. He will be missed dearly by all who loved him.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations in Ken's name to Miranda's Rescue.

RUN YOUR LEGAL ADS IN THE

MAD RIVER UNION

Gemma and Spencer are perfect pals to take you into 2022

This time of year can be a little rough in the animal rescue world. Long holiday weekends, stormy weather and distracted humans make for a bad combination as far as the dogs and cats are concerned.

Eighteen dogs came into the shelter in one week which really puts a strain on everyone – extra chores for the staff and lots of walking for the volunteers. In the midst of all this we received an offer to take in Freya and her babies, featured last week.

On a rainy morning on Christmas Eve, Freya packed up her things (with a little help from her friends), hopped in the truck where her babies were already resting in a dish tub and headed off to a nice quiet home for the holidays.

We do have other dogs in need of foster homes. We hope, as we leave the holidays behind, that more people will be willing to consider fostering a dog. The need varies from week to week; sometimes we need a foster for puppies, sometimes there is a need for an animal getting medical treatment and almost always we have an adult dog or two that just needs a second chance to show what good dogs they can be.

It's great having a file of interested fosters for the times when there is an urgent need to get dogs out. Please contact us through our Facebook page, email at redwoodpalsrescue@gmail.com or call (707) 633-8842 for more information.

The other way that the public can help with the problem of overcrowding at the shelter is by adopting. Every time that a dog gets adopted through the shelter, two dogs are positively affected. The adopted dog gets a real home with a loving family and space is created in the shelter which gives another dog a little more time to be ready for adoption.

Incoming dogs and cats have a legal hold of four business days. The holiday weekends can stretch those out for several days longer than in a regular week. Fortunately this Friday is the last county holiday for at least a little while!

The selection of available dogs is increasing as the recent arrivals are temperament tested and go up for adoption. This week we have a newbie and one of our longer residents for your consideration.

Spencer is a very nice boy who is racking up fans among the volunteers! Spencer is about a year old. He is a good-sized fellow weighing in at about 75 pounds and is your basic mutt mix.

He has that one ear up, one ear down look that is really endearing. Spencer is very dog-friendly and has been great with everyone that he has met.

When walking with his neighbor Honey, Spencer kept leaning in to give her little kisses. He hasn't had a lot of obedience training but is an eager learner and catches on quick.

Spencer may be a candidate for a home with cats. He did not seem interested in chasing when he met some at the shelter.

Spencer's gentle nature could make him a good candidate for a family home also. Spencer is hoping 2022 will be good to him!

Gemma is one of our longer residents; she came to the shelter in October. She is also about a year old. We're not really sure why she is still waiting for her forever home. It could be the problem of being a sturdy black dog whose petharbor photo does not really show how cute she is.

Gemma is our first pick if we want to see how a new dog does with other dogs. She is bombproof when it comes to other dogs and has helped many of them to be more comfortable on their walks.

Gemma also has another skill. She is one of our superior ball-handlers. She particularly likes a large yellow hard plastic ball which she can maneuver all around the play yard and can even juggle it in the air with her nose! She can entertain herself with this activity for quite a while. We have a video of this talent on the shelter's Facebook page. It is pretty fun to watch.

She is also a fan of water, though the wading pool is put away until we see some warm weather again. Gemma would do best in a home without cats but loves humans and the attention that they can give her. Come meet this sweetheart today!

Spencer and Gemma are both available through the Humboldt County Animal Shelter. They are currently showing dogs by appointment. Call the shelter at (707) 840-9132 to arrange a meet and greet or for more information.

Rio Dell gets no-cost Tesla backup rig

CITY OF RIO DELL
RIO DELL – On Thursday, Dec. 9, Mayor Debra Garnes officially opened the City's new "Rio Dell Big Battery" energy storage facility built by Tesla.

The facility was made possible through the California Public Utility Commission's (CPUC) Equity Resilience Self-Generation Incentive Program.

The CPUC created the program as a result of the 2019 Public Safety Power Shutoffs.

The project has been delivered at no cost to the City. Located at the City's Corporation Yard, the battery system can power both water and wastewater treatment systems for up to 20 hours of operation independent from the electricity grid.

The system also stores electricity during low pricing periods and offsets energy consumption during high price periods, thereby helping to reduce energy costs.

"We appreciate the opportunity to work with Tesla on this project," Stated Rio Dell City Manager Kyle Knopp. "The new capabilities of this system will enable us to better serve the community during potential future blackouts or other energy-disrupting events."

In 2020 the HSU Press published Jerry's Humboldt Bay Shoreline, North Eureka to South Arcata: A History of Cultural Influences, a pretty short book with a very long title. It will serve as the basis for Jerry's January presentation to the Historical Society, which will describe logging, land reclamation, railroad building and other activities that have taken place on and near the eastern side of Arcata Bay, including events at Bayside, Freshwater and the several nearby sloughs.

You can prepare for the presentation by downloading a free copy of the book. Go to digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/monographs/10/ and click the download button for 161 pages of photos, maps, and text about East Arcata Bay.

The lecture will be hosted via Zoom by the Humboldt County Library and can be viewed from the safety and comfort of home on a personal computer, laptop, tablet or smartphone.

The deadline to sign up for access to the lecture is 5 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 7, 2022.

Upon registration, participants will receive the meeting ID and password.

Those interested in this lecture and others, can find information at the library website, humlib.org, by clicking on the calendar of events and finding the event listed on Saturday, Jan. 8, 2022.
